CLASS NOTES

DOINGS

Shadows of Yesterday

By ELEANOR RABINOWITZ

The Prologue

Can one put on cold, austere paper all the emotions that are wrapped up in us . . . emotions roused by the recollection of our high school days, of our friends and teachers, of the trials and mishaps and joys that crowded together to make up four years of our lives? Can one capture, in retrospect, the mood of a day no longer in existence?

No, that isn't possible. Emotions are too subtle, too difficult to express; recollections are, at best, mere shadows of days gone by, devoid, as all shadows are devoid, of light, color, living substance. How can one define the genuine smile of "a pal", the carefree banter in the halls, the loony jokes of the class clown? The simple phrase "school days" suggests many things, but can it describe the feeling of pride at work well done, or the feeling of dejection at failure? Can it begin to enumerate the bits of knowledge, ideas, impressions, and thoughts received in a classroom from teachers and fellow students? Actually it says so little!

No one can fill in the history of a class. A class is made up of individuals, and each individual has his own private history to relate. Because individuals are distinctly different, so the histories must be different.

As a class, however, we have shared some basic experiences together, and these bind us to each other. We've suffered the "initiation" pains, risen to the top by gradual ascents and have felt, jointly, the nostalgia of farewell. We've laughed and argued and talked together. We've worked and played. In all our hearts is written the true history of our class . . . only in all our hearts.

Political and Economic Survey

Political excitement in our class rose from mild indifference to a rousing crescendo, culminating in the stormy election campaign of our last term.

Monetary worries began to assail us when the Torch beckoned . . . Shall we ever forget the way our hair rose when we heard the "financial estimate?" Or the extra-sweet smile we reserved for potential Torch buyers?

★ Social Whirl

First there was the freshman dance. Can you remember that far back? Then the square dance, with much ado over records, posters, refreshments . . . Senior Rec Day was ushered in with much oh-ing and ah-ing. High heels clicked down the halls, cameras clicked pictures, boys clicked at girls . . . At last the prom; Cinderella's dream come true! A dimly-lit gym, music, the swirl of an evening gown, the low laughter of young voices . . . Our farewell dance . . . And always there were the club activities, the amateur shows, the choral concerts.

★ Sporting Events

Yea for the red and white! Carry on, men! . . . Autumn-tinged days and a football field . . . Bands playing, arms waving, voices cheering . . . Silence if our team lost. Wild jubilation if it won . . . Rallies in assemblies . . . letters sewn on jackets . . . Do you remember how we'd smuggle radios into school to listen to the crucial World Series game? And the brisk, healthful walks we'd take to 109?

★ Academic Woes

A sonnet has fourteen lines . . . Our boys have many more . . . Psychology is the study of the mind. Our minds can't even study . . . Franklin said: "Fish and visitors smell after three days" . . . Sodium chloride is the intellectual's way of saying: "Gimme the salt!" . . . Tempus fugit means "time flies" in Latin, but doesn't it in English, too? . . . Bright Bill: "You can't live without photosynthesis." Dumb Dora: "Okay, take my picture quick!" . . . But look, if x equals y , then z can't equal q and you'd be contradicting the hypothesis." . . . Yes, hic, heac, hoc . . . this that and the other thing.

Say, Do You Remember . . .

The genial fellow in 109 . . .

The "pungent" odors floating from the chem lab . . .

The boys' protest against the "new look" outfits . . .

The choir rehearsing every morning . . .

Mr. Flamm's sparkling smile . . .

The little airplanes flying around Room 220 . . .

Sneaking into class after the late bell . . .

The calm, peaceful lunchroom . . .

The uninhabited locker rooms . . .

Miss Cleary's "Yes and no divided by two gives maybe . . ."

Mr. Lumb pointing to the sign: "Do not lean or study on the piano . . ."

Looking for the hopeful curl of smoke during a fire drill . . .

The report card that lived up to your expectations . . .

The little musician, Mr. Sabold . . .

How slowly we started the prom scenery and how quickly we finished . . .

The poor frog we dissected in biology . . .

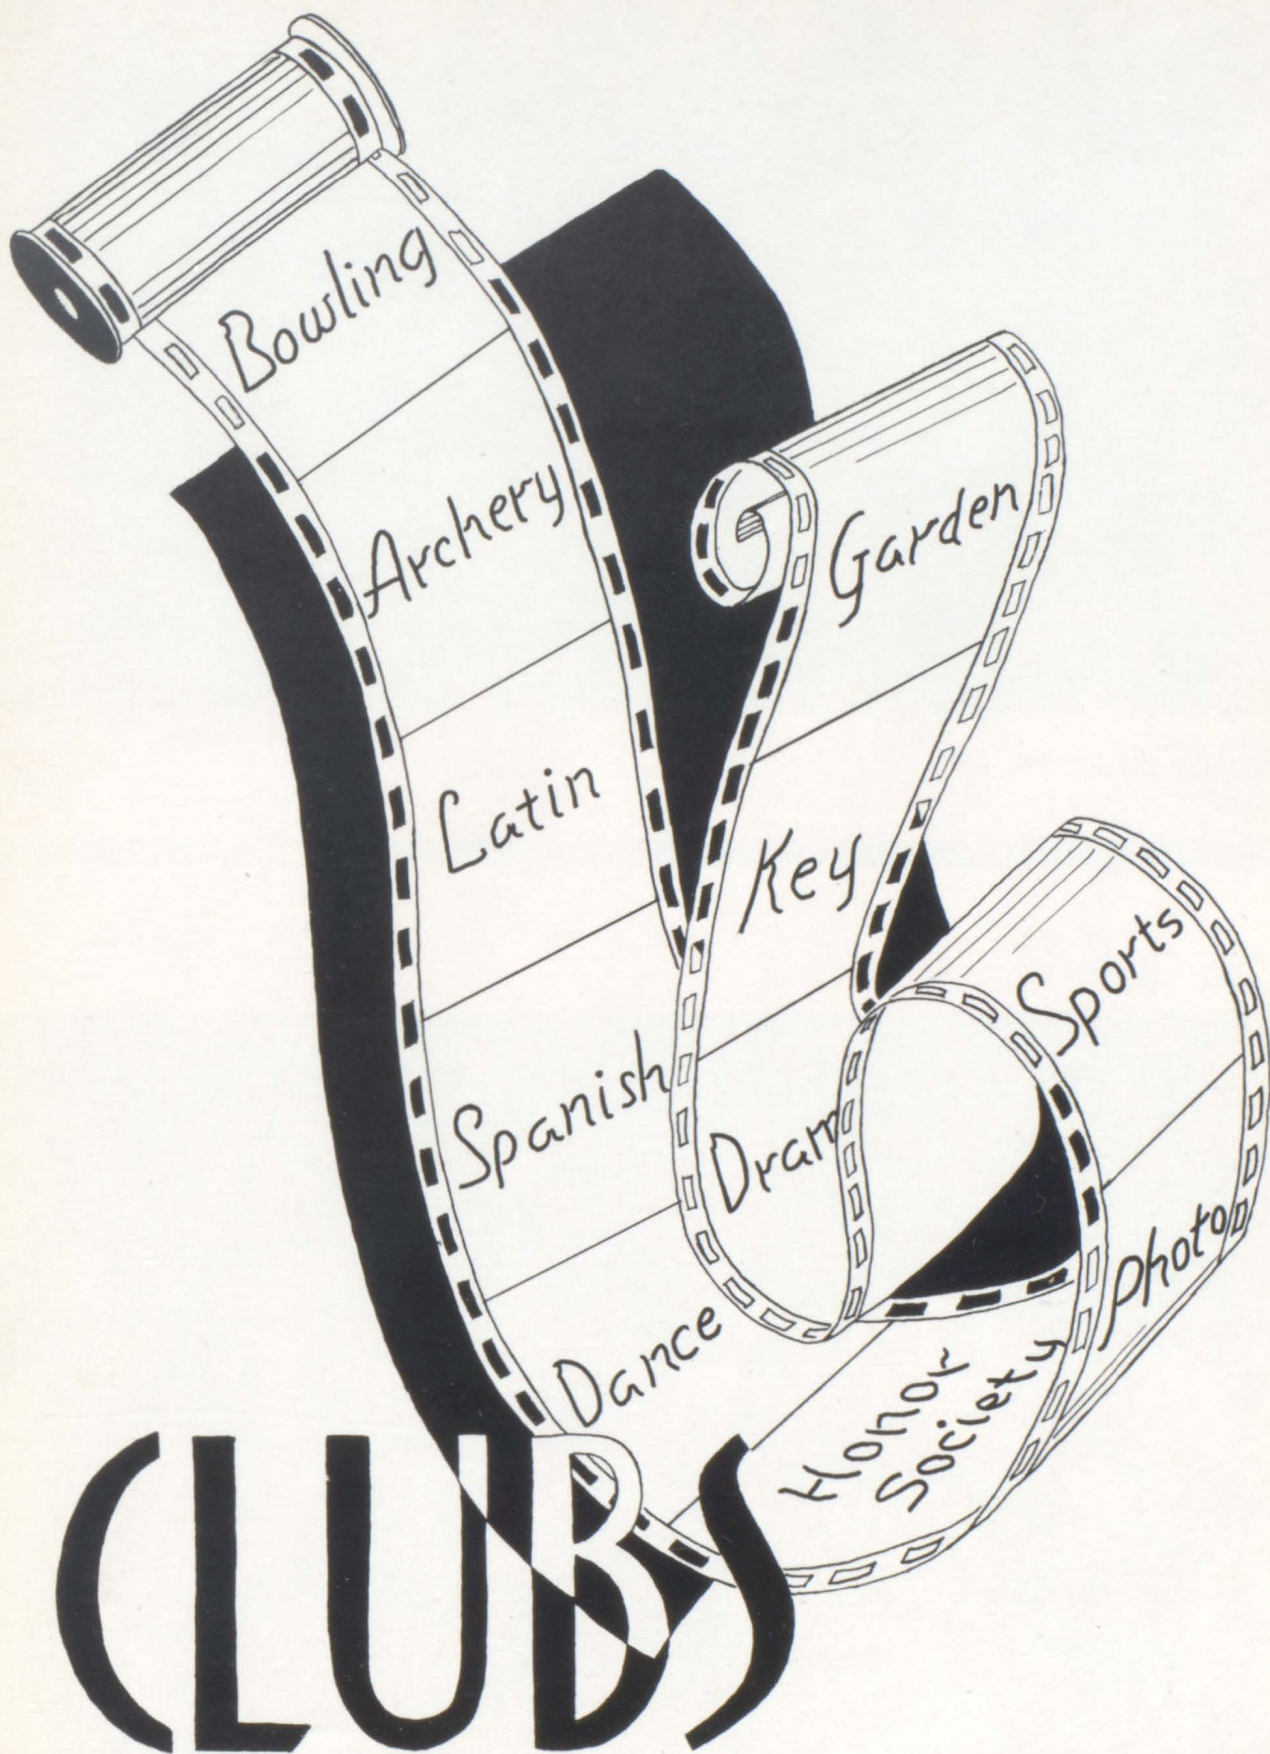

Mr. Grubel's "vickey versey", and "dat right?" . . .

The beautiful weather we had for Senior Rec . . .

With what wild enthusiasm we greeted the weekends . . .

Mr. Rock's famous "Smile!" . . .

Mr. Jannone doing the be-bop . . . ?

ONE profession . . . and a MASTER at it

WHEN you choose the profession you're going to follow . . . choose carefully, slowly. When you've decided, select one phase of that profession . . . and then concentrate on it! SPECIALIZE, study and work at your specialty until you know more about it than anyone else in the world.

The creed of specialization and perfection applies universally; to the man who builds better mousetraps, to the surgeon, or the engineer . . . or the photographer.

Academy Yearbook Photographers are SPECIALISTS in that precise sense. We are YEARBOOK Photographers, interested only in creating ever-finer YEARBOOK pictures.
